

Photo Book Templates

Front Covers

Included in the price of your book is basic front and rear cover design. (An allowance of 45 minutes artwork is included). Please specify the photos you would like to use on the front (and rear) of the book. You can use up to 5 images between the front and rear covers (and this is in addition to the images you can use inside the book). Please also provide any specific wording if you require it. If you just want me to design it- then that can be arranged!

Designing Your Book's Pages

When designing a book, photos can be arranged on the page in a variety of ways. The below templates help you arrange the photos to maximise the page use and take into account whether the photo is square, portrait or landscape. You can pick a template and specify the photo layout. If you'd prefer you can let me design the layout of the book for you (using these templates), - simply provide a list of the photos you want included.

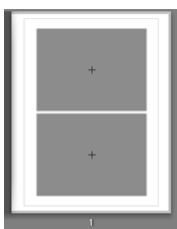

If you want a layout that is not shown below, this can be arranged for you but there will be an additional charge for artwork preparation time.

Important:

Photobooks are supplied with a maximum of 20 pages and you will be told how many images you can include in the book. This is in addition to the 5 you can use for the front/rear cover. This is usually 50. That is the maximum number of images allowed in the entire book of up to 20 pages, for the price. You don't have to use all 50 images or all 20 pages. Additional images (or pages) can be purchased.

If you pick an image to fit into a box on the template that are different shapes (you pick a portrait oblong photo and want it in the position of a square box) then the image you pick will be cropped to fit the new shape, showing the main subject of the image, unless you specify otherwise.

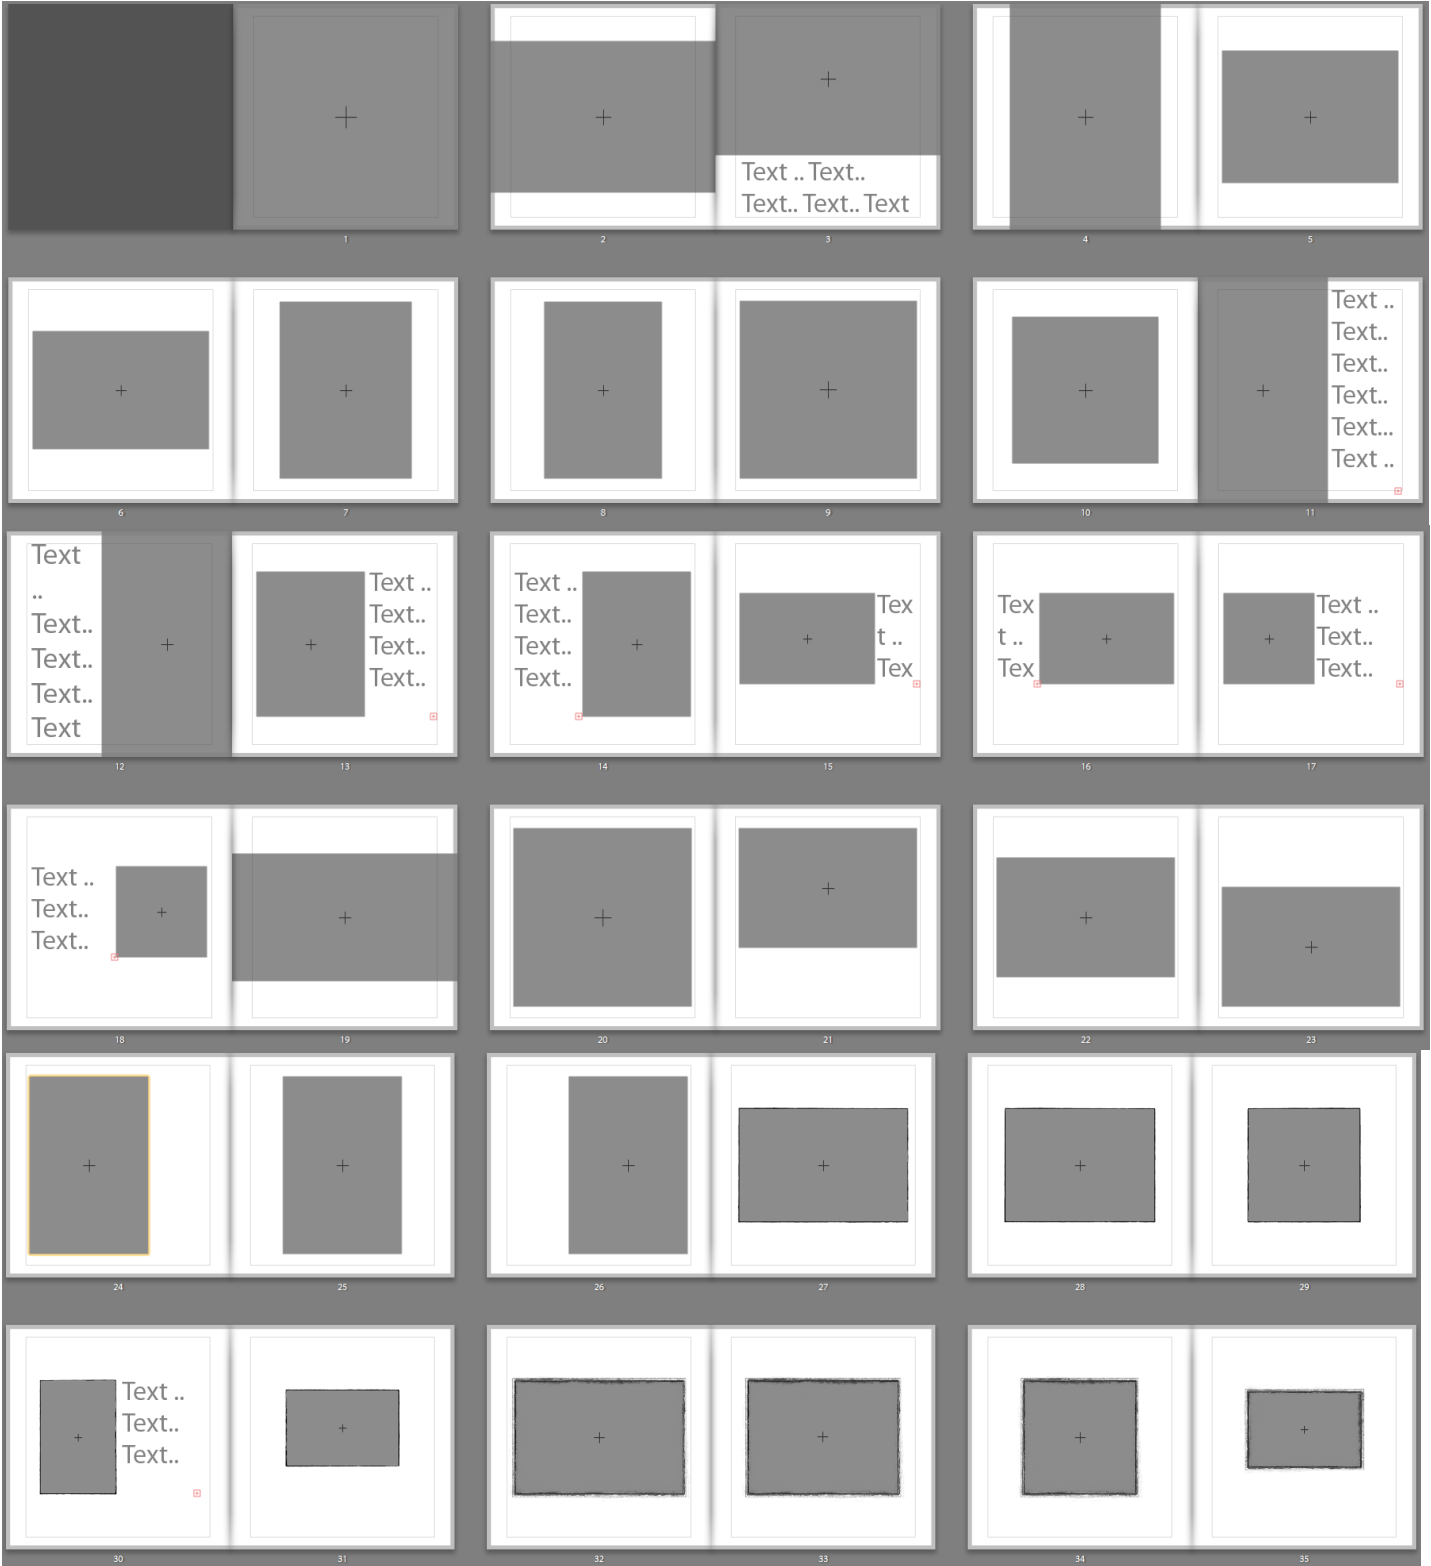

Templates are divided into sections by how many photos the template gives, per page. To pick one simply refer to it by its group and number.

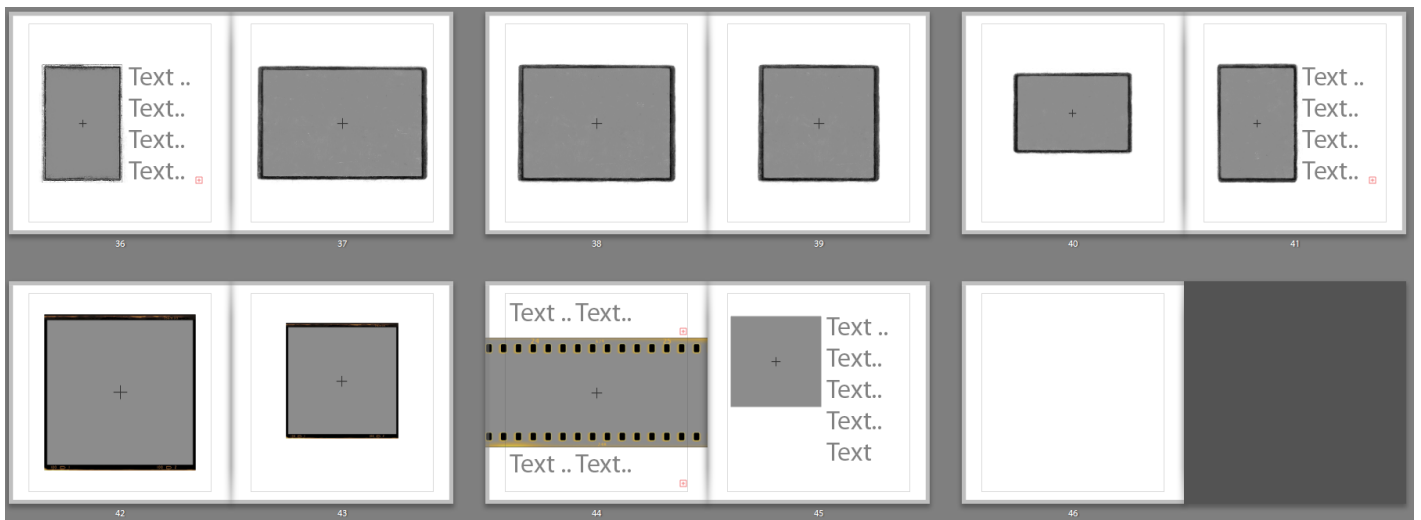

So this one from the two photos per page section, or 2P, would be 2P-1.

Where text is shown, writing can be added. Please supply the writing in email or Word format. This will not be spell checked or altered from how you type it. It will be sized to fit the space provided. If you don't provide text for these templates the text areas will be left blank. (no boxes will show – it will not be obvious that text could have been typed!)
